Optical Fiber Cable Manufacturers and/or Sales Offices

Corning Optical Fiber, a division of Corning Incorporated, is a major OEM supplier of optical fibers worldwide. Corning Optical Fiber supplies a full range of optical fiber products to a broad base of leading global cable manufacturers. Corning Optical Fiber does not endorse or recommend any particular manufacturer of optical fiber cables. The following selected lists are provided for informational purposes only. These manufacturers preferentially and routinely supply cable utilizing Corning's optical fiber products.

To be assured of obtaining 100% genuine Corning Optical Fiber, use the following procedures:

- Require 100% Corning Optical Fiber in your project specifications by using the following specification and tender language, "The cable shall only contain optical fiber manufactured by Corning."
- Look for the "Plus Corning Optical Fiber" branding designation written on the cable sheath or the "Plus Corning Optical Fiber" logo on the cable shipping reel or the suppliers' documentation.
- Require fiber data delivery to ensure full documentation and traceability of all fibers in each cable through the unique twelve digit Corning fiber identification number. All Corning Optical Fiber customers have online access to their fiber data information and history.
